The weight of authority sustains the doctrine of Hare Walla.ce s note, as given in the text; but there are cases to the contrary, as shown in note d, 1 Pars. on Notes Bills, 857. The Kentucky Court of Appeals (Bell v. Morehead, 8 A. K. Marsh. 158), upon the collateral question that the possession of paper by a previous holder is prima facie evidence of his right to it, after a rehearing, thus gives its conclusion: As to the ease of bills of exchange, however, some authorities are strong that proof of actual payment is necessary to entitle the immediate indorsee to recover; while others admit the bare holding of the bill as good proof. The bare possession of the bill furnishes a violent presumption that the person to whom it had been indorsed had not parted with it without payment; and that he had no doubt that the doctrine which admits the possession of the bill as good evidence will be of great convenience in the mercantile world and that it will enable dealers in such paper to recover their demands frequently without the necessity of proving that they have actually paid their indorsees, who may be distant and almost inaccessible. Being at liberty to choose, therefore, among...
