Outskirts Press, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 201 x 124 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .NAUTICAL CHRONICLES These are the Nautical Chronicles; boating stories and related antics as presented by Captain Robert Brown. The Captain with his wife and First Mate, Louise, began their boating adventure in 1996 with a repossessed, 21 Four Winns cuddy and with absolutely no boating experience. Their friends had taken them out for a boat ride one hot summer day, and they became infected ; they needed to get into boating. Being from central Ohio, the Captain had grown up with a total lack of introduction to or interest in. Boats, boating or water. Swimming, for him, was staying alive in the water. Fortunately for him, his First Mate had some experience; her father had always had a small boat near Salem Harbor in Massachusetts; she had always enjoyed their adventures together. There is nothing so much fun as doing something for the first time. These Nautical Chronicles tell the stories of first-time boaters beginning an adventure which appears to be unending; an adventure which is representative of so many others who have chosen boating as a pastime, a hobby, a thrill and a passion. Captain Robert Brown and his wife, and First Mate, Louise continue their boating adventures out of Cove Marina on the Merrimack River in Salisbury, Massachusetts. They live, in the off season, by the sea, at North Beach in Hampton, New Hampshire. In 2004, Bob successfully completed the U.S. Coast Guard examination and received his 100-ton Master s license. Since then, he and his mates have traveled the near-coastal waterways from Ft. Lauderdale to Bar Harbor including three bare boat adventures in the British Virgin Islands and one in the South of France....
